

LABOR'S MAY DAY IN THE BRITISH CAPITAL

The Reds have Undisputed Possession, but Are Not Interested With.

IRISH AND JEWS DIP IN

Tom Mooney's Brother Is There and Makes Plan for Lawless Liberty.

LONDON, May 1.—(By Mail)—London's labor day parade, though disastrous "Reds" had a police escort to prevent molestation. In the procession that marched from the Thames embankment to Hyde park everyone wore red paper hats and streamers were draped of red, black, and yellow. Large banners, some advertising from sidewalk to sidewalk and bearing such inscriptions as "Down with soldiers and workers' commissars," were carried by the revolutionaries. "England's new land—England's Republic" of green went with the red. The Sinn Fein flags, however, were quite few. Several thousand were in the procession which resembled our American labor day parades in the elaborate banners of unions. A motley crowd in which were a few decorated soldiers, sailors, and all others in military uniform, marched at the head, their red banners advertising banners of socialist Sunday schools and their slogans were such as "Liberty and Justice," "Revolution Advance," and "The Coming Generation."

In the great open space of Hyde park near Marble Arch, the historic platform green of England's "soapsuds" free thinkers, the procession came to an end. An immense crowd had gathered to witness the scene, which was to serve as platform. In the center was a labor man, one Leidner, in the trade union committee movement spoke simultaneously from the wagons from 2:30 until 4:30. The wagons were decorated and numbered, and a program of the day, printed in red ink, gave the list of speakers on each platform.

Mooney's Brother Speaks.
At the same time in the afternoon the eight platforms were thundered with oratory given over in all sorts of the world's eloquent Tongue, demands of unemployment and the government's labor policy. A very pretty Irish girl drew cheer for Sinn Fein and organized a procession to march to Pentonville prison, London, to protest against the confinement there of Irish rebels. An educated Indian demanded self-government for India. Jack Mooney, of the International Workers Defense League of California, brother to Tom Mooney, urged President Wilson and asked for three cheers for Debs and his condemned comrades imprisoned in the capitalistic government of America.

A woman urged the mothers of England not to bring another baby into the world "to be machine-gunned down." George Lansbury, editor of the Daily Herald, said that he spoke at a meeting at Hyde park 10 years ago with the great William Morris and they were asking for the same concessions of justice that they were demanding today. We are talking long enough; it is time for action."

Jump from Bed in Morning and Drink Hot Water

Tells why everyone should drink hot water each morning before breakfast,

Why is man and woman half the time feeling nervous, despondent, wearied, some days headache, dull and listless, some days really incapacitated by illness?

If we would all practice insidiously what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick, anaemic looking souls with panty muddy complexions we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. But every ounce of food and drink taken into the system needs an ounce of waste material must be carried out else it remains in forms, putrescible-like poisons which are absorbed into the blood.

Men and women, whether sick or well are advised to drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins.

Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, and stomach, nervous, days and sleepless nights have become real cracks about the morning inside.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate to anyone its cleansing, strengthening and freshening effect upon the system.
